

Day 1 – Night Formation Training

BACKGROUND

As Red Flag Exercise is about to kick in , night missions are something you need to get used to.

This evening you are commanded to escort tanker Texaco over Coyote Bravo providing support to CAPs over FEBA.

AA TACAN , Datalink , IFF , NVG goggles are vital to "own the night" , make sure you master all this things in this heavy traffic situation.

BRIEFING

Takeoff at 3:05 (ZULU time) and , after WP2 , reach tanker Texaco using AA Tacan channel 5X and CH7 COMM 2 radio freq.

Once saddled with Texaco stay in formation and wait all the guests , you will be surprised by who still fly today. You can declare BINGO FUEL (via F10 Menu) to break formation anytime.

Once done with planned guests or BINGO FUEL you can RTB to Nellis AFB reaching usual LANDING IP WP4 over Glendale.
