Situation

Lieutenant Colonel Nolan's assertion about the enemy's willingness to fight was spot on. Their morale eroded significantly once the world's press started reporting the death of General Al-Mahdi. Iranian forces have now retreated back to the North into the vicinity of Jiroft. Military intelligence believes this is undoubtedly their last stand.

Any defeat will crush them and force a surrender. Nolan wants the Griffins at the tip of the spear for this mission.

Blue Task

Today this conflict ends... YOU will end it. The ATO has the Griffins going in first today. You'll find enemy armor engaged with our tank and scout platoons in an around WP03.

Battlefield intelligence puts most of their Armor at Waypoints 3 through 10. Beyond waypoint 10, you'll find A2A threats so stay alert. Also, we've seen Hind activity up near the Northern kill box.

Once you engage, you'll have 12 minutes before a supporting element arrives. You'll have free reign of the A2G battlefield during that time. Once those twelve minutes are up, a swarm of angry Apache's will enter the battlespace and mop up whatever remains.

MISSION: Crush the enemy's will to fight
